Firm Description and Types of Advisory Services

ASA is an investment adviser providing investment advisory services as well as financial planning services to individuals, businesses, estates, and corporate retirement plans. In addition, ASA provides consulting services to “participant directed” defined contribution retirement plans including 401(k) and 403(b) plans. As part of our services, we can help plan sponsors in comparing plans, fees as well as providing education to employees. ASA was founded in 2015.

Principal Owner

ASA is Limited Liability Corporation incorporated in North Carolina. The Principal Member is Darek W. Hunt.

Investment Advisory Services

ASA generally advises clients on their portfolios on a non-discretionary basis. Through personal interviews, ASA gathers information about client assets, liabilities, investment goals, objectives and time horizon. ASA creates customized, structured portfolios, tailored to each client’s individual risk tolerance. Asset allocation mix may fluctuate and vary depending on ASA’s recommendations and market conditions. ASA may provide a detailed financial plan consistent with a client’s financial status, investment objectives and constraints, risk tolerance and tax status. The financial plan may include the following areas of concern: personal, retirement, investments, tax and cash flow, and death and disability. The financial plan may also include generic recommendations as to general types of investment products or specific securities that may be appropriate for the client to purchase given his or her financial situation and objectives.

Financial Planning

ASA offers financial planning services to clients for which it provides Investment Advisory Services. Financial planning services may include a review of all aspects of a client’s current financial situation, including the following components: cash management, risk management, insurance, education funding, goal setting, retirement planning, estate and charitable giving planning, tax planning, and capital needs planning. ASA may meet with the client to review risk tolerance, financial goals and objectives, and time horizons and may prepare a written financial plan. Financial planning services are based on the client’s financial situation at the time and are based on financial information disclosed by the client to ASA. Certain assumptions may be made with respect to interest and inflation rates and use of past trends and performance of the market and economy. ASA does not offer any guarantees or promises that client’s financial goals and objectives will be met. Clients should notify ASA promptly of any changes to the client’s financial goals, objectives or financial situation as such changes may require a review of the plan and changes to recommendations.

Tailored Relationships

ASA tailors investment advisory services to the individual needs of the client. The goals and objectives for each client are documented in our client relationship management system. Client Profiles are created that reflect the stated goals and objective. ASA clients are allowed to impose restrictions on the investments in their account. All limitations and restrictions placed on accounts must be presented to ASA in writing.

Types of Agreements

The following agreements define the typical client relationship that ASA is engaged. Client Agreements may not assigned by us without prior client consent.

Wrap Fee Programs

ASA does not participate in a Wrap Fee Program.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

Compensation

ASA bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management. ASA's fee schedules are described below.

Compensation – Investment Advisory Services

For investment advisory services, the client will pay annualized advisory fees as follows.

Portfolio Value	Equity/Balanced	Fixed Income
First $650,000	1.50%	1.25%
Next $650,001	1.25%	.85%
Over 1.5 million-1.99 million	.90%	.70%
Over 2 million	.75%	.60%

A new client's initial account fee is paid quarterly in advance and is pro-rated for the remainder of the first quarter. The fee is based on the initial value of the account on the day the client agreement is signed and ASA begins providing professional services. Subsequently after the first quarter, like existing clients, quarterly fees are due and will be assessed at the beginning of each quarter based on the value of the account assets under management as of the close of business on the last business day of the preceding quarter. Clients can elect to be invoiced directly for fees and pay by check or to authorize ASA to directly debit fees from client accounts. The client must consent verbally or by email in advance to debiting their investment account.

Upon termination of any account, since ASA collects some fees in advance, the firm will return any unearned fees paid to client within 30 days. The advisory fee will be payable when the account is established, pro-rated for the first partial quarter.

Compensation – Financial Planning

A fee for financial planning is provided in writing separately. Should a client engage ASA for financial planning, the fee is estimated depending upon the complexity of the client's particular situation and potential services needed. The minimum fee is $1,000 with half due upon engagement and the balance due upon the completion of the plan. Should a client want to engage ASA's advisory services after a financial plan is created, any fees that were paid will be applied against the advisory schedule listed in the compensation area.

Hourly Planning Engagement

Aurora may provide an hourly planning service for specific investment analysis service of an existing portfolio or retirement program at an hourly rate of $175.00 an hour. The rate like our fees is negotiable taking into consideration time and the length of duration.

Should ASA be retained as a financial consultant, for a duration of at least 12 months, client will be placed on an annual rate and billed quarterly in advanced.

Agreement Terms

A client or ASA may terminate the client agreement at any time by notifying in writing the other party. Termination will be effective at the end of month following notice to the other party. At termination, fees will be billed by Aurora Strategic Advisors, LLC on a pro rata basis for the portion the quarter completed. Aurora Strategic Advisors, LLC reserve the right to suspend work on any act that is more than 60 days over-due. ASA also has the right to terminate any financial planning engagement where client is not providing relevant information as requested or is preventing ASA from collecting material information to provide the proper foundation to client.

If client made an advance payment, ASA will refund any unearned portion of that advanced payment in 30 days with the exemption to financial planning fees.

General Information on Compensation

In certain circumstances, fees, retainer fees, hourly billing as well as account minimums and payment terms are negotiable depending on client's unique situation – such as the size of the aggregate related party portfolio size, family holdings, low cost basis securities, or certain passively advised investments and pre-existing relationships with clients. Certain clients may pay more or less than others depending on the amount of assets, type of portfolio, or the time involved, the degree of responsibility assumed, complexity of the engagement, special skills needed to solve problems, the application of experience and knowledge of the client's situation. Lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources.

ASA may absorb, at its discretion, some or all of the transaction fees (including postage) related to a client portfolio.

ASA's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred by the client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and variable annuity sub-account fees and expenses are described in each fund's or sub account's prospectus.

These fees will generally include a management fee, other expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. Apart from the personal client service provided directly by ASA, services identical to ASA's may be provided by other investment advisers for advisory fees that may be greater than or less than the advisory fees charged by ASA.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Neither ASA nor any of its Supervised Persons (employees) accepts performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client). ASA does not use a performance-based fee structure because of the potential conflict of interest. Performance-based compensation may create an incentive for the adviser to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the client.

Item 7 Types of Clients

Types of Clients

As described in Item 4, ASA's clients include individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates and corporations

Account Minimums

The minimum portfolio size is $150,000 for investment advisory clients, although this may be negotiable under certain circumstances. Waivers or exceptions may be granted at the exclusive discretion of ASA. ASA may group certain related client accounts for the purposes of achieving the minimum account size.

Methods of Analysis

ASA may employ the following security analysis methods: Fundamental analysis; charting /technical analysis; and cyclical analysis.

Fundamental Analysis

ASA attempts to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial factors (including the overall economy, industry conditions, and the financial condition and management of the company itself) to determine if the company is underpriced (indicating it may be a good time to buy) or overpriced (indicating it may be time to sell). Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the stock.

Charting/Technical Analysis

The terms “charting” and “technical” analysis are generally used synonymously and therefore, for the purpose of this document, the term, “technical analysis” will be used. ASA analyzes past market movements as well as uses research from third parties firms (Merrill Lynch, Goldman Sach etc) and applies that analysis to the present in an attempt to recognize recurring patterns of investor behavior and potentially predict future price movement. Technical analysis does not consider the underlying financial condition of a company. This presents a risk in that a poorly-managed or financially unsound company may underperform regardless of market movement.

Cyclical Analysis

In this type of technical analysis, ASA measures the movements of a particular stock against the overall market in an attempt to predict the price movement of the security.

Investment Strategies

The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time. Each client executes a Client Profile that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. ASA’s investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events .
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar next year will not buy as much as a dollar today, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

ASA reserves the right to advise clients on any other type of investment that it deems appropriate based on the client's stated goals and objectives. ASA may also provide advice on any type of investment held in a client's portfolio at the inception of the advisory relationship or on any investment on which the client requests advice.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Neither ASA nor any of its management persons is registered as (or associated with) a futures commissions merchant, commodity pool operator, or a commodity trading advisor.

Code of Ethics

ASA employees must comply with a Code of Ethics and Statement for Insider Trading. The Code describes the Firm's high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code's key provisions include:

- Statement of General Principles
- Policy on and reporting of Personal Securities Transactions
- A prohibition on Insider Trading
- Restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts
- Procedures to detect and deter misconduct and violations
- Requirement to maintain confidentiality of client information

Darek W. Hunt, Principal Member reviews all employee trades each quarter. These reviews ensure that personal trading does not affect the markets, and that clients of ASA receive preferential treatment.

ASA's employees must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics at least annually. Any individual not in compliance with the Code of Ethics may be subject to termination. Clients and prospective clients can obtain a copy of ASA's Code of Ethics by contacting Darek W. Hunt, at 910.536.1637.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions – Financial Interest and Principal/Agency Cross

ASA and its employees do not recommend to clients, or buy or sell for client accounts, securities in which they have a material financial interest. It is ASA's policy that the Firm will not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. ASA will also not cross trades between client accounts.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions – Personal Securities Transactions

ASA and its employees may buy or sell securities identical to those recommended to clients for their personal accounts. The Code of Ethics, described above, is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of ASA will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code certain classes of securities, primarily mutual funds, have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of ASA's clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-clearance of many transactions. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics, and designed to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between ASA and its clients.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions – Aggregation

ASA and its employees may trade in the same securities with client accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with ASA’s obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. ASA will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the order.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits

ASA does not receive formal soft dollar benefits other than execution from broker/dealers in connection with client securities transactions. See disclosure below in “Directed Brokerage – Other Economic Benefits”.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

ASA does not receive client referrals from broker/dealers.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

The day-to-day supervision of the portfolios is the responsibility of Darek W. Hunt, Principal Member. Investment portfolios are continuously reviewed and monitored. In addition, each client portfolio is reviewed periodically for compliance with the investment policies, suitability of investments and client investment objectives. Darek W. Hunt is responsible for overseeing all reviews.
